The Austin Business Journal has a nice story about a new website called GivShop.com.

According to the story, "GivShop.com offers users discounted deals while giving 50 percent of the profit to a local organization selected by the customer. The company has teamed up with about 15 area non-profits, including the Austin Humane Society, Boys and Girls Club of Austin, Ronald McDonald House Charities of Austin and Central Texas, Emancipet and Ballet Austin, company officials said."

This could be a pretty good thing. Groupons are all the rage this days.
